PAPER LIGHT SHADES

In a range of shapes, sizes and tones, paper lanterns illuminate sections of the living and dining areas. A set of large 'Regolit' lights from Ikea were stacked to create a sculptural form at a minimal cost while hiding the ugly electronics.

IN DETAIL

ideas from the Vanessa Bruno home

Dress-circle Marais

Occupying space in what was once a grand 17th-century private home in the Marais district of Paris, the apartment of fashion designer Vanessa Bruno is an intriguing interplay of feminine pastel colours and strong architectural elements, including polished oak floors and weathered ceiling beams. This is an apartment of inventiveness and personality, mixing the tailored and traditional with decorative elements that break a few rules.

any occasion

Before buying an occasional table, consider how you plan to use it. For Bruno, the lightweight, vintage coffee table serves as a delicate display unit, while the solid white version can double as a table and seat. ### INSIDER'S GUIDE TO... THE PARIS MAISON & OBJET DESIGN FAIR

One of France's most important exhibits for interior designers, Maison & Objet, held in Paris, showcases the best in homewares, including fabrics, wallpapers, lighting and furniture. Creator of the Year at the premier event of the show, Now! Design à Vivre, was awarded to Tokujin Yoshioka for his 'Crystallized' project (above). The next Maison & Objet is on September 7-11 2012. Visit www.maison-objet.com.

LOVE THAT, TRY THIS

↓ BED LINEN Bruno's hand-crocheted bedspread provides a cool, sophisticated palette in the master bedroom while at the same time personalising the space. If you love crisp, plain bed linen, have a look at the White range available from Kas.
